Actuarially appropriate. Premium rates determined to cover the anticipated loss and a reasonable reserve based on valid reasoning, an examination of all known risk data, and founded on thorough knowledge or experience of the expected value of all future costs associated with a risk transfer.

Complexity. Complexity takes into consideration such factors as originality, the number and type of factual determinations necessary to establish insurable interest, evaluate risk, and determine whether an indemnity is payable, the number of commodities and areas to which the product is applicable, the rating methodology, the number of risks covered, unique policy provisions or endorsements, the delivery process of the submission, and the process of creating rules, policy terms and conditions, underwriting procedures, rating methodologies, administrative and operating procedures, and supporting materials.

Development. The process of creating rules, methodologies, administrative and operating procedures, supporting materials, and documentation necessary to submit, gain approval, and implement a proposed policy or coverage.

Endorsement. A document appended to a policy reinsured under the Act that supplements or amends the insurance coverage of that policy.

FCIC. The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, a wholly owned government corporation within USDA.

Maintenance. The process of continual support and improvement, as needed, for a policy or plan of insurance, including the periodic review of setting prices, updating premium rates or the rating methodology, updating or modifying policy terms and conditions, expanding into new commodities and areas, and other measures necessary to assure financial viability and actuarial soundness or to respond to statutory or regulatory changes.

Maintenance costs. Specific expenses associated with the maintenance of a policy during the maintenance period.

Maintenance period. A period of time that begins on the date the Board approves the submission for maintenance and ends on the date that is not more than four reinsurance years after such approval.
